According to reports the Japanese attack was repulsed, and a Russian counter-attack was so energetically pressed that a village within the former Japanese lines, of some strategical importance, was taken. It is rumored that several Japanese guns were taken. There was no fighting at the center or on the left fiank.

The Japanese advance is believed to have been inspired in part by the news of the Russian internal troubles, intelligence of which reached the Russian army at dawn January 28.

Following a sudden return of winter weather, cannon began booming far weetward, and through the morning fog and mist the Japanese unexpectedly advanced. The rifemen on the Russian right flank were so vigorously employed in the fighting line that by evening they had met the Japanese attack by a brilliant counter attack. The Japanese at once began to retire, abandaving and setting fire to a village.

Throughout the night and all day, firing was heard along the line toward the Hun River, in the vicinity of the villages of Heksutail and Lindiutun, in the center, the Japanese firing occarional shots to get the 'range of the

The troops all along the line were under arms the night of January 25. The skies were lit up by the glare of a conflagration, evidently caused by the burning of a village beyond the Shakhe River south of Lone Tree Hill. A bitterly cold wind is blowing, snow is falling and heavy frosts prevall.

A witness named Brooks testified that he noticed, while escaping out of the range of the Russian fire, a big vessel resembling a merchantman but he was unable to give an exact description of the ship. The authorities regard the danger of a general tie-up of Russian industries as probably over and declare that the attempt to turn the movement into a general political revolt has failed. The authorities everywhere seemingly are attempting to treat the workmen, whose aspirations are purely economic, without harshness and are appealing to their patriotism by pointing out the benefit which will accrue to the Japanese by a suspension of work at the arsenals, dockyards, etc. On the other hand, the authorities are putting down the revolutionists with a state latter have again been forced to cover meetings being almost impossible.

RECESSION BILL IN ASSEMBLY.

MOVE TO INFLUENCE SENATE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—The friends of the bill to recede Yosemite Valley to the national government have transferred their fight from the Senate to the Assembly. Assemblymen Estudillo's measure, which is a companion measure to the Belshaw bill, was this afternoon made a special order for Wednesday morning in the Assembly. This action was taken on motion of Estudillo, and was carried by a unanimous vote.

The Belshaw bill was to have come up in the Senate Thursday morning, a postponement to that time having been taken at the request of Senator Belshaw, after the debate on the bill last Tuesday morning. Those who are advocating the passage of the recession bill concede that the measure has more friends in the Assembly than in the Senate.

It is thought that should the bill friends in the Assembly than in the Senate.

It is thought that should the bill pass in the Assembly Wednesday next it will serve to influence a few doubtful votes in the upper house, where the recession sentiment is evenly divided. The Assemblymen who will speak in favor of the Estudillo measure claim they are ready to answer the constitutional objections raised by Senatof Curtin in the Senate, and they are confident of securing favorable action. So few members remained for the afternoon session that the few who determined to transact business had to content themselves with passing bills on the second reading file.

The only-bill given final passage during the afternoon was Lumley's measure allowing municipalities in irrigation districts to withdraw from the districts after trigation bonds are paid. This was accomplished only after a call of the House.

E. M. Ferguson, who represents fruit and vegetable shipping associations, made a brief speech in favor of concerns operating private refrigerator cars, and charged that these owners get rates of from $100 to $200 less per car than other shippers, and therefore were unfair competitors.

Brodle, who has been appointed to a government position in Washington and must come has been appointed to a government position in Washington and must come here before long to assume his duties. Since it became known in Arizona that Gov. Brodie was to leave his place there, many of the leading citizens of that Territory have telegraphed to Washington suggesting that A. B. Fowler, who was the Republican candidate for Delegate to Congress from Arizona, last fall, and who is well informed on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the Territory, be appointed. These suggestions, it is known, have reached the White House. Fowler is now in Washington, where has been for some time, at work on matters for the Territory, and incidentally doing what he could toward killing the bill to eliminate Arizona by uniting her with New Mexico into one State. He said today that he had heard from some of his friends in Arizone, and admitted they were urging him to become a candidate for the Governorship, but he said he had not made up his mind yet whether he would go into the fight or not. That is all he would say. Some of Fowler's friends here who believe that he would make an excellent Governor of Arizona say that if the people of that Territory who know him will unite in seeking a place for him, and it is offered him by the President, they feel pretty sure that he will accept.

NAVAL (NCREASE PROGRAMME. TWO BATTLESHIPS ALLOWED. [BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.] WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.-The House Committee on Naval Affairs today de-ided upon the naval increase pro-gramme to be incorporated in the Naval Appropriation Bill, providing for but two battleships. They are to be of 16,000 tons each, representing largest type and carrying the heaviest armament and armor. The vote by which the two were adopted was 13 to 4.

The naval bill was completed today and will be reported to the House by Chairman Foss. It carries appropriations approximating $100,070,000.

There were different views in the committee as to the number of ships that should be authorized, some fal your ing three, others but one, and at least one member opposed to constructing any vessels. The first motion was for three battleships. An amendment was proposed limiting the number to one, which was defeated by a vote of 13 to 7. It was then amended so as to provide for two, and adopted. The majority against providing torpedo and submarine craft was but one.

The bill provides for 3000 additional seamen, and gives the Marine Corps 200 additional non-commissioned officers and 1000 additional privates.

JUDGE TAYLER IS QUESTIONED.

(BT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-AM.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 37.—Arguments for the defense were made today in the Smoot investigation before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections. Waldemar Van Cott of Salt Lake opened with a discussion of the charge of interference by the Mormon Church in political affairs of Utah.

Before Mr. Van Cott began to speak, Senator Knox said he believed that the arguments of Judge R. W. Tayler, counsel for the protestants, would be clarified if he would answer three questions, as follows:

"Do you concede that your argument, intended to establish Senator Smoot's disqualification, applies with equal force to all members of the Mormon Church who entertain the belief Senator Smoot has confessed?

"Do you concede that your argument for disqualification, applies with equal force to all members of the Mormon Church who entertain the belief Senator Smoot has confessed?

"Do you concede that your argument for disqualification, applies with equal force to all who believe in the duty to obey the divine will, however ascertained?

"Would Senator Smoot's belief in a duty to obey Divine revelation, applies with equal force to all who believe in the duty to obey the divine will, however ascertained?

"Would Senator Smoot be disqualified, in your opinion, by reason of beling a Mormon, if Mormonism had never been tainted with polygamy?"

In answering the first question, Judge Tayler said the chief charge against Senator Smoot was that he was an integral part of the quorum of twelve, which he declared to be all there was to the Mormon Church. The president of the church, he said, was the creature of the quorum of apostles, and could be removed by it. The latter part of the first question and the second question were answered jointly by Judge Tayler by giving what he believed to be the political significance

ARGUMENTS FOR SMOOT.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On the subject of polygamy, Worthington said that the manifesto prohibited only new plural marriages, and that all lawyers would so interpret it. Two years later, when President Woodruff, interpreted the manifesto sa applying to polygamous cohabitation, said Worthington, all persons in Utah we'e of the sentiment that there should be no prosecutions. He said that when Utah was admitted to Statebood, it was agreed there should me no new plural marriages without the consent of Congress, but that Congress left the subject of polygamous cohabitation to be regulated by the State. Having been left to the State, said Worthington, the State practically said to the polygamists that they could continue to live according to the custom they had established.

Worthington concluded for the day with the statement that the Mormon Church had received but one revelation in twenty-three years, and that was the one to stop polygamy.

The closing argument for the protestants will be made by Judge Tayler, instead of John G. Carlisle, formerly Secretary of the Treasury.

Commissioner Wright says there can be no doubt that the cause of the strike was to establish the Western Federation of Miners in the smelters, including reduction and refining mills, as it already has been established in the mines. In summing up, the commissioner says:

"Lawlessness accompanied the strike as a labor weapon, and it has accompanied the actions of the alleged law and order element as a weapon against the strikers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—America is learning lessons from the Russo-Japanese War which will prove valuable to both the army and navy of the United States. Some of these lessons were considered at the meeting of the Cabinet today, and the discussion which ensued will result in definite action within a few days. It was concluded to appoint a joint military and naval board to study the matter, with the idea of supplying the cadels at the military and naval academies with instruction, not only in jiu-jitsu, the Japanese athletic exercise, but in sword exercises and other forms of exercises with might prove of value to the cadets in personal encounters.

It was pointed out that the pending Far Eastern war had demonstrated that hand-to-hand encounters were much more likely to occur in the course of war than had been supposed. The reason for this condition, as indicated by Secretary Taft, was the adoption of new methods of attack. The present war had developed an unusual number of night attacks, in which the attacking force was usually in close proximity to the enemy before it was discovered. The result was hand-to-hand encounters, in which swords, lances, revolvers and the personal strength of the combatants figured materially. In many of these fights the Japanese, through their superior knowledge of the sword play and their remarkable agility, had overcome their opponents.

We had the distinction of belonging to the of us had a rope tied to his leg. We had the distinction of belonging to the kesshitai (now the kesshitai means a band of men who have left all hopes of life behind.) We had said to our friends whom we had left behind, to pull us out by the ropes, if possible, in in case heaven would not give us the last grace of carrying ourselves out. The tunnel had to be dug in all haste. There were a band of our comrades who were clinging to the shell holes on the slopes in front of the hostile forts, and unless we could succeed in blowing up these caponieres and machine guns it was impossible to save them.

All of a sudden there was an explosion; earth shook, then shuddered. All was blackness. Six of us were buried. We were dug out by our comrades by the ropes which were about our feet. At the end of three of the ropes, however, they found but little save a touch of heroic memory burned black and grim by the powder. Our tunneling work was completely wrecked. Where the explosion took place there was a hole of over ten meters in diameter. But it is an unkindly kick of luck indeed which has no sliken tassel at the point of its slippers. Looking down through the opening made by the explosion, we found jutting out from the dark earth something white,—[Japanese Officer, in Leslie's Monthly.

"That depends upon the extent of the damage done. If the trees of Florida orange groves have been damaged the effect may be very serious for California growers. We have just reached that point where, because of the yearly increase of the Florida citrus output, we might be able to best these railroads down to a low freight rate. If the Florida trees have been killed as they were ten years ago, that chance for a low rate is gone glimmering, and what benefit the grower may derive this year will be lost in an increased freight rate next year. This, to my mind, is the most serious

[Washington Star:] "The best way to stave off old age is to keep the knees supple."

This epigrammatic remark was made by William Muldoon, the wrestier, in a short talk he once gave to business men. The idea he intended to convey was that men whose minds were much occupied by indoor pursuits should resort to vigorous walking for exercise. Amplifying the remark, Mr. Muldoon said one of the first indications of advancing age was stiffness in the knees, and that if a person in middle life wished to maintain physical well-being he should overcome the tendency by walking in the open air and some attention to diet.

The wrestler declared that stiffening knees were nature's proclamation against too little exercise and too much food. His remedy was simply the return to nature's ways, until the hardening of the tendons should be arrested and the equilibrium of health restored. If the knees were supple, he conditions of good health are present in the daily tramp—freedom of action, absence of care, continuous but not exhausting exercise, and fresh air. Walking has the best possible effect upon the digestive organs. The body is thoroughly aerated and the condition of the skin improved. Oxygen fills the lungs, being inha! d in deeper breathing than is possible ... riding, and the blood is revivified. The muscular system is given full activity, and the changing scene by the roadside may relieve the mind and continually give it new ang pleasurable suggestions. If the walker is of thoughtful turn the quiet may give an apportunity for mental absorption, and hard problems may be solved, decisions reached and business schemes evolved in the hour of exercise. The walking habit nuaturally insures a state of mind which is one of its crowning benefits; it develops contentment just at is does better circuitation and sound sleep.

From well authenticated data it would appear that walking is the form of exercise most favored by very aged men and women. It is related of a member of the MacDonald clan in the highlands of Scotland, who lived to the age of 161, that he was as celebrated for his long walks as for his great age. The year before he died he accepted a wager to walk ten miles in two hours, and won it. For this achievemen the old man was presented to the King in Windsor Castle.

Capt. John "kembrack, whose home was near Saratoga, N. Y., when 95 years old, planned a tramp of 200 miles to New York, from which he was dissuaded by his relatives. He did, however, walk to Albany, taking a steamer from there. He was hale and hearty at 96 and was accustomed to walk about five miles a day.

Col. George — crkins of Norwich, Ct., who died a few years ago past the century mark, made a practice of walking a long walk, in which he delighted.

Prosper Morris of Bartonsville, Vt., who lived to the age of 102, until stricken by apoplexy, when past 102, could be seen every day taking a long walk, in which he delighted.

Sally Morris, who was living a few years ago near Parkersburg. W. Vs., at the reputed age of 113 years, was in the habit of walking to town and back one day each week, and the distance was six miles.

In the last year of his life Count von Moltke, so long the commander of the Germany army, wrote regarding the benefits of outdoor exercise:

"I now spend more time in the open air by a good deal than I did in earlier manhood. I am convinced that pure air and exercise are not only among the best medicines, but also the best preventives of disease, and that they are important factors in the promotion of longevity."

INGO OF RAII IS HIS FORTE.

WRITER OF THRILLING TALES IS HERE FOR THE WINTER.

Frank H. Spearman, whose thrilling stories of railroad life have appeared in The Times Magazine, has come to the Angeles for the winter. He is accompanied by his wife, four young sons and, his Scotch coilie "Cinder."

Unless landiords raise their embarge on children, Mr. Spearman will write his forthcoming railroad novel in a shack in the foothills. House owners he has approached so far are exponents of the race-suicide theory.

Railroad men, especially, will be surprised to learn that Mr. Spearman never handled a train sheet in a dispatcher's office or served an apprenticeship in the train or engine service. Other readers who may not have appreciated so fully the nicety of his command of the lings of the rail, but who through him have made the acquaintance or "Bucks," "Pat Francis," the quaint old conductor; "Shockley," the brave switchman who died at his post to save a life, and the remainder of the galaxy of heroes, hardly will be less surprised.

"Railroad life became a part of mine while I was engaged in the banking husiness at McCook, Neb., said Mr. Spearman. "That was a division point of the Burlington and Missouri River railroad and I naturally was thrown much in contact with switchmen, brakemen, firemen, engineers, conductors, telegraphers, dispatchers and so on up to superintendents.

"Every time I passed an engine that had come in on a run or stood with rhythmic exhaust and the air-pump panting, waiting to take out a train, I felt that here was something alive. There was a sentiment about it that appealed strongly to me and I simply was necessary to go without the bounds of facts to get good stories.

"Boottime if might have been necessary for a man in the story to lose his life to give the proper touch to the bounds of facts to get good stories.

Railroad officials, upon learning the identity of the dog's owner, not only held the train while a search was made, but finally caused the capture of 'ne canine and forwarded it on a later train to its owner.

Mr. Spearman's home is at Wheaton, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. His faith in the virtue of sunshine and the belief that he can work to better advantage in this climate than in the dreary winter surroundings of the big Illinois city have brought bim hither.

SIX GOAT-KILLERS MAROONED ON GUADALOUPE ISLAND.

Nothing to Est for Eight Weeks but Goat Mest and Even That Was Hard to Get—After Rains Came the

Sa.s DIEGO, Jan. 27.—R. S. Weaver of San Francisco, son of N. J. Weaver who holds the concession from the Mexican government for killing goats on Guadaloupe Island, 128 miles from the mainland, off the const of Lower California, arrived here yesterday, en route north. Weaver tells a story of hardship. He was set ashore on the island four months ago with five Mexicans, the work which he undertook being the killing of the goats, which run wild on the island, trying the tailow out of their carcasses and drying the hides for the market. The plan of killing is to compel the goats to come to a solitary spring to drink. The carctakers hide in stone houses near the spring, and when the time is ripe they rush out and close the avenues of escape. After that the goats are driven into a corral and slaughtered. Sa., DIEGO, Jan. 27.-R. S. Weaver are driven into a corrai and slaughtered.

Eight weeks ago the provisions of the camp gave out, and us they were unable to get more, it was necessary for the men to live on goat meat exclusively. This was not so bad, however, until the rains fell, for At was an easy matter to capture goats, and for awhile the meat was satisfactory. But when the rains came, the goats no longer came to the spring to drink, making it necessary for Weaver to make long journeys each day after sufficent game to keep the camp from starvation. To make matters worse, his supply of cartridges ran out, and he was obliged to use buck shot. To kill with buck shot it was necessary to get within three or four rods of a goat, and this was a difficult matter. Frequently Weaver would work a whole day in securing a single goaten.

The Mexicans had no guns, and re-hauled up for months, and was full of cracks. Having discovered it, after great exertion, Weaver set at work making oars and putting a keel on the craft, his plan being to try and make the mainland. He was outlitting the boat when the rescue by a power boat from San Quintin was effected.

Weaver declares he will not return to his island until he is assured of stated calls by gleamer or satting vessels.

DEATH IN ELECTRIC BULB.
The mystery surrounding the death of Porrest P. Brown has been solved.
The testimony at the inquest went to show that Brown was killed by an electric shock, produced by taking hold of the glass bulb of an incandescent light. Under ordinary circumstances the voltage would not be sufficient to do any harm, but it has been discovered in this instance that carpenters at work, several blocks away, had removed some brackets supporting the feed wires of the city street-lighting service, allowing them to come in contact with the main cables, increasing the voltage many fold. Numerous cases of men being rendered unconscious by handling the glass bulbs during the past few days have been reported.

ROUVIER MINISTRY MEETS.

PARIS, Jan. 37.—The Rouvier Ministry held its first formal council at the Elysee Palace today, under the presidency of President Loubet. Premier Rouvier submitted his declaration of policy, which was approved. Later, the Premier presented the declaration to Parliament. It follows the policy of ex-Premier Combes, the main features being an income tax, the separation of church and state, workingmens' pensions and a reduction of the term of military service, with declarations severely condemning the system of secret reports of the lives of army officers which brought about the downfall of the Combes Cabinet.

EVANGELISTS OPEN FIRE AMID GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

W ITH a grand wave of enthusiasm the great evangelistic campaign opened last evening, and practically all religious Los Angeles was given over to singing songs of Zion and listening to the first words of the couriers of salvation who have brought with them zeal inspired by work in other fields where great conquests have been made.

If an auspicious opening means anything the Los Angeles amough at the dosrs of the churches will pray I can tell you what will happen thought the people to an interest that field all the district centers to overflowing last night must realize the responsibility before them.

night was in favor of a great warming-up and a feeling of expectancy seemed to inspire all the audiences.

The singing everywhere was splendid and it is a notable fact that while the large drilled choruses led with a strong volume of melody the congregations were but little behind and sang almost as well as the trained choirs.

The work in all the meetings was practically preliminary and many details were explained that will hereafter not enter into the programme at any of the services.

No meeting will be held tonight in any of the districts and the next meetings will be on Sunday afternoon. That for men will be held in Temple Auditorium at 3 o'clock and will be addressed by Dr. Chapman. A meeting for women only will be held at the same hour in the First Methodis.

COMMANDER PRESENTED.

CENTRAL DISTRICT.

COMMANDER PRESENTED.

It was an inspiring scene that met the gaze of Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, commander of the forces, when he entered the First Methodist Church last night, where the meeting of the First, or Central District was held.

People not only filled every seat, but packed the galleries, the Sunday-school room and every available space that would afford an opportunity to see and hear. It was a sea of humanity from the very feet of the speaker directly up to the ceiling in the extremity of the auditorium.

The chorus was effectively arranged in three sections. Something over 250 occupied the large platform about the pipe organ, and two sections of about 100 each sat in the two wings of the first gallery. Under the leadership of Charles F. Allen they sang with great volume and in good time.

Fred Butler rendered two bass solos artistically and to the evident pleasure of the audience.

On the platform were a dozen or more pastors representing the churches included in the First District. Rev. William Horace Day, chuirman of the executive committee, Introduced Dr. Chapman and called upon him as general in command to take his place in the lead. The distinguished gentleman was received with the Chautauqua salute, as he stepped forward.

Dr. Chapman did not preach a sermon, but just talked in a heart-to-heart fashion about his mission and for what purpose he has come to Los Angeles. He said:

"T believe we are on the eve of another pentecostal revival; the atmosphere seems filled with it. From all I have seen and heard I prophesy we are on the eve of a great awakening.

"We are most fortunate in the character of the corps of workers in this city, and so far as those who come to you are concerned, whether it is a sermon or a song, these whole services shall be for bringing people to Christ. If you are looking for anything sensational you will be disappointed."

Dr. Chapman took his text from the Acus of the Aposties: "I ask therefore for what tutent have yeen for the corp of the corp of the cor who simply preaches Jesus as an ideal preaches to you an impossibility."

Dr. Chapman then made a strong decisration of his belief in the atonement and the sacrificial death of the Saviour, and he said that among the things he could not preach is demoninationalism. "I love my demonination, but you do not know what it is, and if you find me exalting it I'll leave your town at once."

CARRIAGE FACTORY AMENS.

The anvil chorus which erstwhile has The anvil chorus which erstwhile has rung out at the factory of the Ad-vance Buggy Company, at Thirtie a street and Central avenue, gave way last night to an amen and hallelujah chorus in which the Methodists were joined by the Presbyterians, Congre-gationalists, Baptists and other de-nominations.

Then the vast congregation turned itself loose on some of the grand old hymns that have been dear to the hearts of Christians for years and years; and the sound of the singing swept out over the neighborhood for blocks.

The room in which the meetings are to be held is a section of the carriage works, 40x120 feet, lighted by fourteen large windows on the south side; and from these the light streamed out last night, making a striking picture as it showed the interior of the factory packed with people.

A platform and raised tiers of seats for the large chorus have been erected in the east end of the room, and the place has been seated so as to provide accommodations for 1200 people. Ushers from the various churches have charge of the seating.

Evangelist walked to the lower and of the coming of Christ and the following of Hisservants in the church, and the speaker made a strong exhortation for personal work among the church members.

"We are nice as ice," said Rev. Henry Ostrom.

A meeting of personal workers will be held in the Olivet Church tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

UNIVERSITY DISTRICT.

ATHLETE EVANGELIST.

The initial service of the campaign in the third, or University district, met the entire expectations of the promoters, and they were large. The singing of a chorus of 160 was most inspiring, Harry Maxwell, the singer, was spirited and sincere, and his own solo was inspiring.

Dr. W. E. Biederwolf was popular with the audience in his first words. He is a non-clerical looking man in a business suit; has the piercing eye and wide mouth that mark the oration. His address is direct, his words inspiring; his mouth drops down at one corner, and emits an "Ah," that suggests impediment, but is only an effective emphasis. His sermon was first a definition of revival, then an answer to objections.

MANY MINISTERS TALK. The Boyle Heights Methodist Churc

The Boyle Heights Methodist Church housed a great crowd of eople last night, and the revival fires which have been burning brightly in the churches of the highlands for several months past were fanned to even stronger flames by the union of workers.

Evangelist H. W. Stough, who is to be in charge of the union work, was suffering so severely from tonsilitis that he was unable to address the congregation. There were short talks from Dr. William Sterling of the Methodist Church, Dr. Robert F. McLaren of the Presbyterian Church, Rev. William H. Walker, Jr., of the Calvary Baptist Church, Dr. Price of the Brooklyn Heights Congregational Church, Rev. W. T. Martyn of the Christian Church and Rev. Fred Ross of the Euclid Heights Methodist Church.

A chorus choir of 100 was led by W. H. Collison.

GATHERING AT ASBURY.

The churches of the East Side, which includes the fifth district, gathered last night at the new Asbury Methodist Church on North Workman street. A congregation of about four hundred persons listened to a sermon from Evangelist John Elliott, and to solos by Charles E. Rykert. Mr. Rykert also directed the chorus choir of seventy-five voices. The second union service will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

Automobile Gets Beyond Control and Automobile No. 108, driven by a young man whose name and address the police have been unable to learn, became unmanageable on South Broadway last night, and at Sixth street ran into and seriously injured Mrs. Sarah McKenna, aged 73, whose home is at No. 463 Lake street. The machine was not running at a high rate of speed, but although the young man made every effort to stop and avoid the accident, it ran nearly half a block after the woman had been struck. It took but a moment to repair what was wrong with the machinery, and then the young man rode back and offered to tender every assistance within his power.

Mrs. McKenna sustained a severe scalp wound, a fracture of the left ankle, and is suffering greatly from shock. On account of her age her injuries are considered serious.

About ? o'clock last evening automobile No. 322, owned by Mr. Kinney of Pasadena and driven by J. W. 3mith, ran into and demolished a light wagon in which a man and his wife were riding, near the corner of West Seventh and Flower streets. Both occupants of the wagon were thrown out, and the woman was rendered unconscious. She was carried into a neighboring residence, where she quickly revived. A carriage was called and, accompanied by her husband, she left the house without having given her address.

City Engineer Stafford figures that the middle man has the best of the bidding, and City Attorney Mathews, who appears likely to cast the deciding vote, has concluded to take a couple of day's further time to complete his calculations.

Under the terms of the advertisement for bids for supplying material for the outfall, the city must take the brick at the different company's yards and deliver them along the line of the sewer at its own expense. The Southern California Brick Company has bid $5.90 for brick supplied in Los Angeles. This is lower than any of the other bids but the City Engineer has decided that freight rates considered, it is the highest. The Simons Brick Company made a bid of $6.38 a thousand for brick delivered at Los Angeles Pressed Brick Company has offered to supply brick from its Santa Monica yards for $6.35 a thousand.

Granting a petition from property owners on East Seventh street. Councilmen Kern and Hiller of the Board of Public Works yesterday recommended to the Council the advertisement of the proposed sale of a street railway franchise on East Seventh street and Boyle avenue. The franchise extends along East Seventh street from Spring street to Boyle avenue and along Boyle avenue to Stephenson avenue.

No mention is made in the petition of the time limit, for the proposed franchise and none of the petitioners referred to it in their appeal before the Board for a street railway line.

The proposed road connects at both terminations with lines of the Los Angeles Railway Company.

FELIZ FOUND GUILTY, PERJURY CASE NEXT

A NTONIO FELIZ, alias China Joe, who in years gone by was Governor of Lower California, and who more recently has been on trial in the Federal Court for swnugfling five Chinese laborers across the Mexican border into the United States, at 4:30 yesterday afternoon was found guilty by the jury as charged. Judge Wellborn imposed a fine of it and a sentence of four months in the Los Angeles County Jail. The jury had recommended Feliz to the mercy of the court, hence the mildness of his punishment. The jury was out from 12:30 until 4:30.

In response Judge Wellborn said: "The fact that the jury in its werdict has recommended the accused to mercy is a matter to be considered in passing sentence. I am not disposed to consider as a circumstance of accusation the fact that government officials for a number of years have suspected him-certainly that would be no proper grounds on which to weigh sentence. Suspicion of guilt should not aggravate punishment; only previous convictions or absolutely known facts should be considered. It would be extremely unjust for this court on a mere matter of suspicion to increase punishment." Sentence was then pronounced.

Feliz was indicted by the late Federal grand jury on the charge of smuggling sive Chinese laborers—Wong Bow. Gin Wing Fong, Wing King. Way, Wong Kong and Wong Nong—into the United States from Mexico December 18, 1803. The Chinamen were captured at Vallecitos. Feliz was caught by deputies near San Felipe, as he was striking out, poorly armed, for Los Angeles.

Pascaline prefers the guardianship of her godmother to the care of the Zvonskys, and stated in court that the only time that her earnings were given to her godmother they were expended for her advantage.

CAN SELL VERDUGO HOME.

CAN SELL VERDUGO HOME.

Judge Wilbur yesterday granted the petition of the administrator of the state of the late Teofilo Verdugo asking that he be granted leave to sell a part of the rea' estate. The present plgm is to sell the old homestead, made sacred by historic interest, and yield to the march of progress as represented by golden dollars.

The Verdugo estate is valued at 350,000 but that, probably like most large estates, is rather under than over the mark, and there is nearly a $30,000 indebtedness to be settled. The administrator's bond is for $15,000.

If the present plan is carried out the old Spanish homestead—the last of the old regime in the immediate vicinity of Los Angeles—will be sold to the Los Angeles Interurban Company. It is to be converted into a Spanish restaurant, the Sehora Yorba being chief of the cuisine. The Glendale lime is to pass through the Verdugo land, and residents in that section hope and believe that ultimately it will reass through the Verdugo Caflon, and finally make connection with the Pasadena lines.

AGAINST A. GROVES.

The peculiarly ingenious scheme that A. Groves, the attorney, followed in forging titles to property is gradually being unfolded, and his swindling operations are shown to have been more extensive than was at first supposed. That Groves forgred the notarial acknowledgment was a necessary consequence in the absence of anyone who could or would make acknowledgment in the ordinary way. The maker of the notary's real that he used has been located. The stamp bears the name of Allen R. Joy, State of Oregon, but while there is a notary of that name in Portland, his name is Allan R. Joy, the forged stamp showing a change in the one letter of the first name.

It was charged that the Count and Countess Zvonsky were restraining the pretty, little girl of her liberty, but they surrendered possession to Mme. Josefa Pellissier of Pico Heights, and there Pascaline San Pedro will remain, for awhile at all events.

The habeas-corpus proceedings were dismissed by the court vesterday, but the petition of Mme. Carreaburn will be taken up on the date named, and then the fight for the child will be resumed. The godmother with her charge lived in France until November last, and under the French law was the legal guardian of the little girl, who is 13 years old. The Zvormskys obtained the services of the child supposedly as a companion to their two state. Groves sobbed up representing himself as attorney for Langworthy, who was represented to have bought from Emma Nelson, supposed to be living in Portland, Or. The attorney intimated to Miss Dickson that if she was prepared to pay enough he could and would get her a good title, but before doing anything she set some of the Pinkerton men in Portland to hunt up Emma Nelson. Miss Dickson thought that a heart-to-heart talk with her would result more advantageously than dailying with Attorney Groves, though she had no reason then to surmise that he was seeking to drug her into a swindling transaction. But though Portland was ransacked in the search for Emma Nelson the officers never discovered anyone bearing that name.

The insurance policy had been taken out by Waldeck in August, 1903, and the company raised the objection to the complaint that it was insufficient in that it didn't set out with required particularity that he had fallen over the cliffs at the seaside. In other words, the insurance company appears to be attempting to show that if the deceased theatrical manager did fall over the cliffs it was with suicidal intent, and that in that event the policy would be vitiated. A good deal of argument was induiged in on both sides, and briefs are to be filed.

should be for "Cream of Lima Bean Soup."

Every mail since Sunday has been bringing to "The Times" Chef' recipes for about every kind of soup imaginable. Some of these are altogether original, and when published will form such a symposium on soups as will make every man, woman and child who reads The Times hunger for a taste of the delicious broths.

Recipes for soups will continue to be received in competition for the cash prises, until the end of the present month, and on or about February 1 the entire collection, or such of them as seem best, will be published in The Times, and voting to determine the prise winners will then begin. First prize, five (55) dollars, will go to the author of the soup recipe receiving the most votes. Three (83) dollars will be paid for the second best, and one (31) dollar for the third.

After the soup symposium, prizes will be offered for the best recipes for various other kinds of dishes, and in the end all the different recipes submitted in competition will be published in pamphlet form, constituting The Times' Cookbook, No. 2.

Remember that all soup recipes Intended for competition must be in The Times office by January 31. Write plainly on one side of paper only, sign name and address and forward to THE Times CHEF. The Times Building.

and led Delagoa all the way into the stretch by two lengths, and then Puddilin' had nothing to finish on but his nerve and he forgot that when Walsh collared him with William Wright. Puddilin' was all in, himself, and let Walsh go by him when a little energy would have landed him in second place. Delagoa was an easy second all this time and when the proper moment arrived went to the front without effort and had to be held in, to keep beating the others too badly. Fuller must have been up late again the night before, or Kenliworth had some attack of the fuddles, for the old horse ran like a cow all the way and was ridden as only Fuller can ride when he does not feel right. Dozens kept off the horse because Fuller was up, but hundreds bet on him on what they know he can do. It is not likely that he could have woo, but a decent ride would not have made such a show of him as he illustrated in this race. Heather Honey refused to try after the start and was pulled up.

LET JOCKS EXPLAIN.

There are several races that would assisfy the smorts in general very much.

LET JOCKS EXPLAIN.

There are several races that would satisfy the sports in general very much, if some of the jockeys would do a little explaining. In the first race the hot favorites, Loyal Front and Betty Penzance, as the Williams entry, were practically left at the post by Dugan and Perrine. In the next race a jockey or a stable boy, named Billon was on the good Lady Mirthful and finished sixth, beaten six lengths for the show money, after getting away second. Then in the fourth race came Fuller's weird ride on Kenilworth that burnt up a ton of wise money, and in the last was Perrine's ride on Freesias. It might be well for Perrine to remember ex-Jockey Lawrence, for his two rides yesterday won't do him any good. While he is not much account as a jockey, he might do well to sit up and take notice.

THREE FAVORITES FIRST.

Three favorites won and the sports on the whole might have broken even had it not been for the first, fifth and sixth races, and Kenilworth in the fourth. Several days ago White Store ran a nose finish to Anona at the Slauson course in 1:09½, with 103 pounds on, and yesterday, with McDaniel on, finished back in the ruck with the same distance made in 1:10. Hundreds of people couldn't see anything but White Stone on his last race, and made him a hot favorite and are still waiting for him to finish. The last race served as another dump on account of the poor start, three horses being practically left at the post and eight or ten of the entire field being knocked out of it by the horses on the outside rushing across to the rail and shutting off the others. Capable, Bandillo and the favorite Jardin de Paris were three on the outside and they went across to the rail so quickly that the others really never had a chance. The second favorite Freeslas, strongly played by many, suffered somewhat in this rush, but Perrine never tried to better, himself on Freeslas until straightened out for the finish.

TWO GOOD THINGS. THREE FAVORITES FIRST.

In the last race Capable, the long distance runner, Bandillo and Jardin de Paris were among those who profited by the start, and having no interference, stayed in front all the way. Capable winning from Bandillo and Paris. Mr. Robinson took the lead at the start and kept up long enough to finish a close-up fifth.

The racing was excellent in the way of time made, for every event was a fast one, and while many of the sports were somewhat shocked by the failure of their picks to land in front, there could be no complaint about the speed of the winners.

association gymnasium on South Hill street and the sport was witnessed by a fair sized crowd of enthusiasts.

There were sixteen entries but owing to various causes but eight boys competed. They were certainly at their best, for they broke local Y.M.C.A. records in five of the six events on the programme.

The events, the first, second and third in each and the results were as follows:

Ten-yard dash: Littlepage, Dane, Paul. Time 1 2-5 seconds.

Distance snap, bar 4 feet 4 inches: Brown, Littlepage, Paul. Distance 8 feet, 10 inches.

Standing broad jump: Paul, Brown, Sholes, Distance 10 feet.

Running high kick: Brown. Paul and Littlepage tied for second. Distance 8 feet 9 inches.

Standing hop, step, jump: Paul, Sholes, Dane. Distance 29 feet.

Pull ups: Littlepage, Brown, Sholes. Number 18.

The former local Y.M.C.A. records for the six events were as follows:

First, Torrey 1 3-5 seconds; second. Bachr 8 feet 5½ inches; third, Ballie 9 feet 5½ inches; flough, Brown 8 feet 7 inches.

The standing is figured according to the number of points made by each contestant and those who finished first last night made the following number of points: Brown 493, Paul 482, Littlepage 446.

The second contest will be held February 10 and the third on February 24.

aptly illustrated by the experience of Archis Roosevelt, the next to the youngest son of the President, who in his first year at school here attended the Force public school, where he sat next to the little son of Secretary Hitchcock's butler.

Cabinet officers, members of Congress, officers of the army and navy and representatives of the foreign powers come here with their families, placing the children in the various private and public schools for the months they are residents here. The schools, which are of a particularly fine grade, are free to all, residents and non-residents, namely, those who pay taxes in their home towns. All the youngsters are for the time being on an equal footing and lead their own little lives irrespective of their fathers' positions. The diplomats, as a rule, send their children to private schools or bring them up at home under the tutelage of governesses.

Of these latter, probably the best known child is the little daughter of Austrian Ambassador and Mine. Youngetten and Mine won Hengelmuller, known as Mila. This fair haired, merry little lass was born in Vienna and was christened with great ceremony. She was brought to this country when scarcely two months old and since then has spent all her winters here. She is now about six years of age and can speak English as fluently as any American-born youngster.

Mila is not the only child in the resonnel of the Austrian embassy. The Counselor and Baroness von Giskra have two charming little ones, the second, a boy, having been born within the last two months. The eldest child is a little girl about four years old, fair and winsome, with a clever little mind of her own. When she first came to this country, a little over a year ago, she went out for a walk with her riurse one afternoon. The day was a little bit sharp and when this precoclous child of three came in she rubbed her tiny hands together and remarked. "curlous climate this."

Two of the most foreign as well as the most beautiful children in Washington are those of the naval attache of the Russian Embassy and Mme. Boutakoff, whose very fair hair and white skins make them noticeable everywhere they go. They are perfect types of the children of Northern Europe. They are the picture of health round and roay, and the oldest boy, Gregory, is such a sturdy little lad one involuntarily exclaims, "What a fine boy." He is 7 years of age, while his sister, Elizabeth, is 2. The youngest boy, Nicholas, is but a baby of a year old, and was born here in Washington. The children have an English governess.

Prescott disregarded the pledges which he had made to his constituents to support the candidacy of Hon. Thomas R. Bard for United States Senator. After securing an election to the Assembly on the strength of these pledges, he deliberately "threw down" Senatorial candidate who was notoriously the choice of the corrupt and corrupting influences known as "the organization"—otherwise, in its final

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

Assemblyman Pryor of Hanford has introduced in the lower house a bill fashioned after the Texas transporta-tion law. The purpose of this measure is to prevent, by providing punishment, discrimination upon the part of the railroad companies in transporting the oil offered for shipment from the Kern-fields as in favor of the trust and of the act is a forfeiture of 550 for each car demanded and not supplied, susums to be recoverable in a civil action in any justice court of competent juridiction.

The bill would chiefly affect Kern River, Sunset and McKittrick, the fields which are now wholly dependent upon railroad transportation. Coalinga, also, would be affected, though probably to a less extent as it has two pipe lines to tidewater in full operation.

Don't say "and" for "to."

Example: "Come an see me," should be "Come to see me," "I'll try and succeed," should be "I'll try to succeed."

Note—"I'll try and succeed" is equivalent to saying "I'll try and I'll succeed." One may try, but not succeed."

Author's' note.-It is one thing to record errors, quite another to avoid them. Note—The word "elastic" is an adjective; is use as a noun is "colloquial."

Don't say "antecedents" for "ancestors." One's theory often is better than one's practice. This was exemplified by the teacher of language when he said to his class: "Never use a preposaid to his class: "Never use a prepo-sition to end a sentence with."

Don't say "above" for "foregoing."
Example: "The above reason is sufficient," "The above paragraph is correct," should be "The foregoing reason is sufficient," "The foregoing reason is sufficient, "It was above on the written page does not always appear above on the printed page.

Don't say "above" for more than."
Example: "It was above the average attendance," bon't say "abundance" for "plenty."
Example: "I have an abundance," bon't say "abundance for "plenty."
Note—It should be so expressed in the majority of cases. To have an abundance is to have more than you need; to have plenty is to have as much as you need.
Don't say "acoustics are" for "acoustics is."
Example: "The acoustics of the new hall are almost perfect," should be "The acoustics of the new hall is almost perfect."
Note—Names of sciences in -ics, as acoustics, mathematics, physics, etc., are usually treated as singular.
Don't say "afraid" for "fear."
Example: "I am afraid it is true," should be "I fear it is true."
Don't say "afterwards" for "afterward."

Don't say "afterwards" for "afterward."

Example: "He did not arrive until afterwards," should be "He did not arrive until afterward."

Note—The same criticism applies to the words downwards, carthwards, forwards, heavenwards, onwards, upwards, etc. I am aware that the dictionaries allow both forms, but I do not snow of an instance in which the thought is strengthened by the additional letter.

Don't (?) say "A good cup of coffee," "A new set of harness." "A new suit of clothes," for "A cup of good coffee," "A set of new harness," "A suit of new clothes."

Note—So say many authorities. To my own thinking the foregoing sentences are correct, inasmuch as the words, "cup of coffee," "set of harness" and suit or clothes" are phrase words. I record them, however, for the controversy they may cause.

Don't say "aggravate" for provoke" or "irritate."

Example: "He aggravates me." Example: "He aggravates me," should be "He provokes me," or "He irritales me."

Don't say "alone" for "only."

Example: "It is known to him alone," "He, alone, is to blame." should be "It is known to him only," or "It is known only to him," "He, only, is to blame."

Don't say "amateur" for "novice."

Note—An amateur may be an artist although not a professional, a novice may be a professional, but not an artist. The one may be proficient; the other deficient.

Don't say "an" for "a."

Rule: An ahould be used before all vowels except long u, as in union, and o, as in one.

Note—A should be used before all consonants and aspirated h; not silent h.

Note—Really not exceptions. Beconsonants and aspirated h; not silent h.

Note—Really not exceptions. Because long u is only a semi-vowel, having for its initial the consonant y
(yoon-yun;) the word one also begins phonetically with a consonant (wun;) therefore, we should say a union, not an union; such a one,
not such an one.

If one is partial to the expression
"such an one" then, to be consistent, he should say, in giving expression to the following sentence: It is an wonder that such an one went to an war.

The foregoing rule also holds good with the words history, historian, human, etc. We should say a history, a historian, a human being; not an history, an historian, an human being.

When the his silent as in the history, an instorant, and in the ing.

When the h is silent, as in the words honest, honorable, etc. then we should say an honest, an honorable, etc. In this case, phonetically speaking, the vowel immediately follows the article; hence no exception to the rule.

Luxuries in Alaska.

A side light upon the mode of living in Alaska is given by stating the fact that in Seattle recently 7500 cases of canned cream, fifteen freight car loads, was ordered by one Seattle firm from a single cannery for shipment to Alaska. This cream is really milk condensed to about half its volume, and it is very popular in Alaska. The Alaskans drink it as they eat bacon.

In Juneau the cold or so-called "shut-in" months are enlivened with club affairs, dances and social functions at which the men are required to wear dress suits. There are carpets on the floors of the Alaskan log huis, and the more pretentious houses have almost all American luxuries.—(Binghampton Press.

from Clifton Jail, Which is a Berred Tunnel in the Side of a Hill. Adobe Houses and Smelter Hands Melt Away.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HMEA)
PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 24.—A late review of conditions at Clifton places the losses at 3300,000, of which two-thirds will fall upon the railroad and mining companies. Two lives are known to have been lost, though it is feared that a couple of unknown victims were swept away in the debris of the first flood. One man was seen hanging to the roof of a small house as it passed in the dusk of the evening. The known dead are John Hunt, a smelterman, who fell into the torrent with the caving of a b. nk of tailings on which he was standing, and Jesus Romero, a brakeman on the Coronado railroad. Although every able-bodied man has been put at work on the repairing of the railroads, and no lack of food exist; there is a condition of inteme privation among the poorer classes, whose homes were swept away and who lost all they had, little as it was. Many of the smelter hands lived in globe houses and huts that crumbled and melted away. Many of them were privided with shelter by the manager of the Shannon store, who found blankets for all he came, while others supplied food to the hungry.

The Arizona and New Mexico Railroad was so camaged that more than a week of work with all the men that could be diverted from t' mines was needed to get a train near Clifton. Three bidgs, went out between Guthrie and Dunc: ", as well as the approaches to the bridge across the Gila at Guthrie. The railroad bridge across the San Francisco at Clifton went out soon after the first rush of water, as did the three suepension bridges that connected the two sections of the town, and the steel wagon bridge. The harrow-gauge aliroad up Chase Creek Cafion, the road over which ore for the Arizona and Shannon smelters comes from Morenel, Longfellow, Metcalf and Coronado, was wached away or buried deep in oncentrator tailings-for eight miles above Clifton.

Naturally, all mining operations are at a standstill and the amelters at Morenel and Clifton are quiet. The tapping floor of the Arizona smelter was submerged six fe and then walked two miles through the mud to reach a repair train on the railroad.

The Gila Valley, Globe and Northern Railroad was badly damaged along almost its entire length of 140 miles. At Bafford a floo from the hills that earried .way the track also flooded the town and did several thousands of dollars' damage. A number of adobe houses collapsed at Solomonville. W. C. Myer, a Safford school teacher, was caught by the water and was found, half frozen, three hours later, clinging to a tree stump. Railway zervice with Globe was resumed Friday. Near Yuma some damage was done in the Gila bottom to the homes of ranchmen. Relief expeditions were sent out from the town and succeeded in getting out all the settlers, although one wagonload of two women and seven children was spilled into the rising waters of a slough, to be rescued with difficulty.

Through train service on the Maricopa and Phoenix saliroad was resumed today. Super: tendent Bicknell having rapidly constructed a temporary piling bridge across the Glia River. For several days past transfer across the stream has been phenomenal. On the Agua Fria River, north of Phoenix, an amateur observer measured a fail of 6.6 inches for the storm, covering about four days. In Tonto Basin the fall measured 5.75 inches, and much snow fell in the mountains. In the Upper Gila Mountains, snow far fallen lately five feet deep, giving apprehension of still another flood on melting.

Generally, the roads all over the Territory have suffered much. The new Night and Day Alike.

During a recent fog a military man, advanced in years, lost his way completely in the nocturnal vapor. Bumping against a stranger, he explained his misfortune, and gave his address. "I know it quite well," said the stranger, "and I will take you there." It was some distance, but the guide never hesitated for a moment on the whole route. "This is your door," he said at last, as a house loomed dimly before them. "Bless my soul," said the old gentleman, "so it is. But how on earth have you been able to make your way through such a fog?" I know every stick and stone in this part of London, said the stranger, quietly, "for I am blind."—[London Chronicle.

CLEVER DOGTHIS.

He Was Sulien and Resentful Toward Three Man Who Proved to be Dishenest.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] "Can a dog iell a thief from an honeat man?" asked one who takes an interest in man's humble friend. "Of course this question, in the very nature of man's limited knowledge of the dog's mental processes, can be answered only deductively. At best the answer will be a mere bit of speculation in any given case, and it will scarcely be reasonable to make any answer apply to all dogs. Some dogs are keener mentally than others. Some dogs might be able to tell a thief from an honest man, and some might not. I have known a few dogs in my time that seemed able to tell whether a man was all right or not. I recall one dog in particular that impressed me with a very firm belief that he just knew intuitively an honest from a dishonest man. Under ordinary circumsiances he was not all slow in making friends with a stranger. In fact, he was inclined to be friendly. During the time that this particular dog was Reforms Explained.

SV F. A DEMENI-TVERNOOY,

(PPECIALITY CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMEA)

Previously for the property of the manufactor of the format of the property of the format of the work wa: being done.

The Conservatives and the bureaucracy became alarmed at the progress. They knew that the Russian people, if educated, would not tolerate them, and that unless they could check the progress, their days were numbered. And that is where the fight commenced. Alexander II was a good-hearted, well-meaning man. He was too easily influenced by his entourise, was vacillating by nature—a nature full of contradictions. Alexander II was a good-hearted, well-mpaning man. He was too easily influenced by his entourage, was vaciliating by nature—a nature full of contradictions. While reforming the empire in its very foundations, he kept, for many years, as his Minister of Public Education, Count Dimitri Tolstoy, a reactionary of the worst kind, who was strongly opposed to the education of the masses. The Zemstvo schools were a horror to him, and having great power, he hampered them as snuch as possible. Inspectors were appointed by the ministry, whose duty it was to look after the teachers and the teaching, with discretionary power to dismiss a teacher and forbid him to teach elsewhere.

Little by little, the programmes of the zemstvo schools were abridged, until they were confined to reading, writing and arithmetic. Only certain books were allowed in the school libraries—those of an exclusively roligious character. If a teacher went beyond this official programme, if he tried to really educate his pupils, he was dismissed, and secret spies followed his every step. And the zemstvos were poweriess to help them.

In the course of time, the same system found its way into the treatment of all the zemstvos' employés—physicians, statisticians, insurance agents, road masters, etc. The government regarded their every move with suspicion. The zemstvo's personnel, beginning with the president, was shunned, recognised by the bureaucracy as its enemy, and it did not take long to create a sharp division between them and the regularly-appointed government officials. Secret but deadly strife was the outcome.

The last years of the eightles were marked by the revival of terrorism, laid at the doors of the zemstvos and Idberals, and open reaction began in direct. A man who looked to representative government as a solution was marked; if he dared speak on the subject, he was doomed. The police grew more powerful every year, and no one was safe in his home. If a zemstvo and from where the deadly blow would fall. Uneasiness, a feeling of uncertainty, ing from many of the existing government in the first meant only as a temporary, conciliatory makeshift, to appease public opinion, and could not have remedied anything.

The reign of Alexandre appointment of the reign of Alexandre anything.

That brings me to the present day. I can see nothing but absolute chaos in the situation; chaos in which no man can foresee anything favorable to the cause of freedom in unfortunate Russia. The semstvos have been so long and so persistently debauched and debased, have so completely lost their former representative character, that their protests and demands are weak and disjointed.

The meeting of last November in St. Petersburg of life representative character, that their protests and demands are weak and disjointed.

The meeting of last November in St. Petersburg of life representatives of the semstvos took place at the residence of my first cousin, J. A. Karsackoff, the present Marshal of Nooflity of the province of Novgorod. Of the life men present, more than sixty were my former coworkers. Only the men of the sixtles and seventies, the oli and very old men of today, dared to come. And after three days of almost continual sessions they could not agree.

The educated classes are hopelessly divided into factions. And I cannot blame them for that. The Russian people have no means of discussing certain questions, of arriving at any decision. There is no free press, nor can they hold meetings. The people are necessarily broken up into small circles of frieads and sequilitances. Such narrowness and the impossibility of using the ordinary means for discussing a question, drives them into academic niceties, into purely theoretical fields of discussion. Every new social theory has many adherents in Russia, who very soon begin to build splendid air castles and lose sight of actual life, of the every-day routine and its requirements. No more hopeless idealists exi. anywhere.

On the other hand, for the last twenty years such theories as the one of Count Leo Tolstoy have taken firm hold on many people in itussia, He teaches anarchy and non-resistance to evil, by physical force. I believe nothing condemns individuality, or demoralizes youth more than such teaching. They kill all energy, force of character, the capacity f lessening their effectiveness accordingly.

I firmly believe that the great majority of the Russian people are dissatisfied with the present government in some way: in fact, in many and various ways. But this enormous opposition is divided, each faction nursing its own disaffection and trying to remedy it in its own way. They cannot act jointly, and their separate efforts are weak and ineffective. Many of them hate each other worse than the government, and could not possibly stand on any one political platform.

Freedom of press, freedom of public meetings and open speech, security of mails, are necessary before the factions can come into touch and form anything like a solid party. In the meantime, the government and the bureaucracy are a unit, a powerful combination, with a three-million army back of it. The forces are too enormous. Autocracy dies hard—it bites and kills ruthlessly before it is brought down. It must be overpowered, adequate force must be used against its own force. I am inclined to believe that the Russian people will have to go through many bloody struggles with the pretorians of the Car before they gain their freedom.

Tipped His Banker.

"When in Holland last summer," said J. E. Lyndon of San Francisco, at the Riggs House, "I had some business with a banker in Amsterdam, who showed me a great deal of polite attention. For several days he gave me much of his time, and took a lot of pains in showing me around. As I was about to leave, it occurred to me that it would be a graceful as well as grateful act on my part to make him some kind of present.

"While cogitating over what to bestow, the idea struck me to remunerate him with cash. It seemed to me that as pretty much everyhody in Europe whom I had met was susceptible to tipping, maybe this man, even though he were a banker, might not be averse to a cash domation. Anyway, I resolved to try it and take a chance of offending him. Besides, there was something in his manner, sospething akin to the indefinable air of an expecta:. hotel waiter—which led me to think this Hollander would not scorn the gift. So on parting, in the most nonchalant manner I could assume, I pressed a $20 note in his hand, and you should have seen him cling to that money, and heard him pour forth blessings on my head.

"Now, in this country, I wouldn't like to offer a banker a lip, but across the Atlantic you can take most any kind of a chance when it comes to giving up' and get away with it.— [Washington Post.

It is not disputed that H. E. Huntington owns or controls large tracts of property in disputed that H. E. Huntington owns or controls large tracts of property in this section, and that he looks for the land to become part of the industrial center of the city. His attention has been directed almost entirely upon property east of Main Street, and it is in this direction that the bulk of his city railway development is to take place in the next few years.

Material is now coming in and with the completion of the East Twelfth street line, the West Eleventh street franchise will be taken up, probably inside of thirty days.

CLAMOR FOR SHIPMENTS.

Traffic offices of the Sait Lake are more than popular. Desks are flooded with inquiries as to when the road will be ready to handle freight, and as to what the rates are to be. All kinds of bonuses have been offered for the honor of "waybill No. 1," the first car of freight to go over the new road. Alfred Stern says that the officers of the traffic department will drink the best case of wine in the State, if his car is stamped with the lucky number; a fine bookcase has been put up by a furniture house; oranges for everybody in the Sait Lake offices will be presented by a shipper for the first car. The traffic department is considering the holding of an auction for waybill No. 1.

"But jesting aside, we are swamped with business before our first hau," said an officer of the traffic department yesterday. "From the clamor for business, it would seem that Southern Nevada is to become the mineral center of the world. This road is going to open up enormous marble and sand stone quarries near Las Vegus and I do not believe that the mineral possibilities of the country up there have even been hinted at yet. No, we can not yet say when waybill No. 1 will be written, but we should be running freight trains by the latter part of March or April L."

the many persons who have been deprived of the use of this magnificent roadway for eight months, during which time the old pavement has been torn up and a new coating of asimultum laid over $500 feet, from State street to Booth's Point. This work has cost the city about $50,000, bonds having been issued to that amount.

There was a general rejoicing among the workmen when they put the finishing touches on this important boulevard. When the new pavement of the second contract was laid up to the end of the asphaltum of the first contract, a "gold" spike was driven in by the contractors, as an emblematic joining of the halves, and the event was celebrated with a general handshaking and serving of refreshments to all the workmen by Contractors Stevens and Logan. That practically finished the work. The rest of the day was put in to good advantage by making minor repairs along the street car rails, in liquidizing the gutters to make them water proof, and a general cleaning up. The boulevard will probably not be opened for public travel until Monday or later.

Santa Barbara's Ocean boulevard, taking it as a whole, from the bathhouse to Booth's Point, is one of the finest driveways on the Coast. It is two miles long, and has been built and repaired at an expense to the city of about $120,000. It follows the trend of the beach, connects with the Plaza del Mar, is contiguous to the city's wharves and main business streets: it commands a fine view of the mountains and valleys on one side and of the ocean on the other.

The new pavement is forty feet wide and is strongly curbed by heavy builkheads on both sides. It is formed of two layers, the base being a concrete asphaltum two inches thick, and the upper layer a carefully-graded asphaltum mixed with marble dust, one and a half inches thick, making an entire thickness of nearly four inches. The pavement has a crown surface of six inches in the center and water outlets on each side for proper drainage of the roadway.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 27.—The grand jury has partially relieved the suspense of those who have been cooling their heels in the Courthouse corridor for the past two days awaiting the expected sensation. Shortly before noon the jury reported ten indictments to Judge B. N. Smith of Los Angeles, sitting for Judge Noyes. When the court had passed upon the indictments he ordered them to be entered and bench warrants issued forthwith for the culprits.

Count on a Railway Train.

A short time ago when a train on the Russian railway from Tashkend stopped at Tchernaievo a weil-dressed man got into a carriage marked "no smoking allowed" and, taking out his case, began to smoke a cigarette. The other passengers politely called his attention to the fact that he was not in a smoking carriage, but he paid no heed to them and went on smoking. It so happened that one of the travelers was a justice of the peace, who thereupon got up, took his chain of office out of his bag and declared the carriage a court of law. The smoker was found guilty and fine fifty roubles, and, as he would not give his name and declared that he had no money, he was imprisoned in the guard's van until he paid the fine.—(Chicago News. PASSENGERS OUT ALL NIGHT.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 27.—Considerable anxiety was caused last night by the non-arrival of the launch Elsie, which left the wharf at 10 a.m., with twelve passengers bound for a fishing trip. She was still at the banks when the other boats left. About 2 o'clock the launch O.K. started to look for her, but cruised around until midnight without success, as the sea was very foggy. This morning the Petrel started out, and met the Elsie about ten miles out, coming in. Capt. Paschal, her engineer and part owner, says his batteries gave out just as he was ready to start home, and he drifted east until dark, when the fog coming on he dropped anchor two miles below Newport, and waited until daynight, when his batteries picked up, and he was able to come home. The sea was calm and the dozen passengers, all men, suffered no other discomfort than the loss of sleep. The Elsie has a closed cabin, and they kept warm. The launch landed at the pler at 8:30 this morning, and besides the passengers, had 200 pounds of yellowtail, and no rock cod.

BEACH NEWS PEBBLES. here ended his life this morning. A revolver was the instrument of self-accomplished death.

Soon after breakfast Ralph went to the home of Sandford Denny, the night watchman, and asked Mrs. Denny for her husband's revolver, saying he wished to kill a cat. With the firearm he returned to his home and going to his room he stood in front of the mirror and fired, the bullet crashing through his head.

No one was in the house but his mother. She heard the shot and, going to the room, was horror-stricken to find her son laying dead on the floor.

Ralph was 20, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Macy, one of the most respected families in this town. Mr. Macy is the postmaster and a merchant. Friends are unable to explain the cause of the young man's act. He was popular and his accounts are absolutely correct, but it is a significant fact that Earl Garrison, who shot himself in Rediands last Monday, was an intimate acquaintance of Ralph's, having boarded at Mr. Macy's and it is thought that the manner of his death suggested itself to Ralph, who shot himself in a similar way.

Garrison was despondent over his ill-health and Ralph Macy was despondent over his crippled condition, having only one arm and one leg. He had been run over by a train several years ago, and he often brooded over his partially helpless state.

A Coroner's inquest was held this sternoon. The Jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday. The interment will be at Evergreen Cemetery, Los Angeles.

"Throw up your hands," said Guiseppe Andonanio, a alim Italian youth, as he flourished a revolver in the face of L. Cattlo, an older son of sunny

Cattlo was slow in obeying the order

The man's recovery is considered doubtful, for, while not necessarily fatal, the wound is of such a nature that complications are liable to arise.

BLACK ROCK, Utah, Jan. 15, 1905.

—[To the Editor of The Times:] Are enclosed samples of sulphur of commercial value? If not how will I protected to make a marketable quality from such? Oblige me with reply in The Times. Yours truly, H. B. R.

ANSWER: The samples carry 60 per cent. sulphur, worth 310 per ton f.o.b. Chicago or New York. Sulphur man no taste, for the simple reason that it is insoluble in hot or cold wanter. It has no smell at ordinary temperatures, otherwise, if hurned, it possesses three states of aggregation, solld, fluid and aeriform. It is twice as heavy as water, and its fumes six biru ELSINORE, Jan. 17, 1803.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you please name the samples of rock I express to you. state if it has any commercial value, and oblige a subscriber.

N. L. D.

ANSWER: Your samples are encrusted with graphite (plumbago,) of a good grade, provided it be concentrated, by crushing lightly, and skimming powder from surface of water in cup, pan or tank.

ANSWER: The samples carry 56 per cent. sulphur, worth 310 per ton fo.b. Chicago or New York. Pyrrhotite.

RENO, Nev. Jan. 17, 1965.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Occasionally I run into pockets of the enclosed mineral while working my mines. I amining for copper. Are the samples I send you by express an ore of copper? Greatly oblige me with a reply in The Times. I amunder lasting obligations to you for answers on other ores. Yours truly,

W. D. M'A.

ANSWER: The samples are not copper ores. They possess a bronze yellow color and weathering brown. The streak powder is black. In hardness 4.5, density, 4.5; brittle; tabular in habit. Interspersed on massive structure. In chemical formula eleven of iron to twelve of sulphur. The mineral is also known as magnetic pyrite, its powder being readily picked up with the magnet. Occasionally nicked is present. B. B. fuses to a black mass which also is magnetic. W. D. M'A.

The distriction of the Editor of The Times:] Stibulte or antimony sulphide occurs here. Will you give me some information on this ore? I particularly desire typical analytical data as to its composition, and also a good test to work on the mineral. Yery truly yours, E. A. M.

ANSWER: Mineralogically, stibnite is of a grayish lead color with black-gray streak. Sectile or brittle. Hardness 2.—2.4. In crystallisation, orthorhombic. Habit needle like (acicular,) columnar and tubular. Of massive, fibrous, stalky, granular, or compact structure. Formula two of antimony to three of sulphur. Density 4 to 4.5. Luster, metallic, but when tarnished, sub-metallic. Chips of the mineral melt in the flame of a candle. On charcoal B. B. fuses easily, giving off antimony and sulphur fumes, leaving a white coating on the coal. Soluble in nitric acid, from which solution antimony pentoxide (a white powder) precipitates, while sulphur separates on top of acid solution. Commercially, the average stibnite analyzes as follows: Antimony, 62.48 percent.; lead, 16.40; iron, 6.70; sulphur, 26.42; with traces of arsenic. A most excellent method for the detection of the impurities accompanying the sulphide is the following: "The finely pulverized mineral is heated with concentrated hydrochloric acid until it is completely decomposed. On allowing the liquid thus obtained to cool the lead will separate out in the crystallized state as lead chloride. Water added to a part of the clear supernatant liquid will cause the precipitation of antimony oxychloride, rendering the solution milky and depositing a white powder on standing, while iron, also copper, which is sometimes wessent, and a little lead, remain in solution. By adding to the filtrate from the oxychloride a few drops of ammonia copper may be detected by the blue coloration which the liquid assumes, while the presence of iron nay be proven by the addition of potassium ferrocyanide, and lead by sulphuric acid." This process is a rapid and handy procedure. Socialism as It Is.

Socialism as it is.

Socialism in its current form is an appeal to the discontented, the unthrifty, the idle and the indolent. Theoretically it is an altruistic doctrine; practically it is a predatory doctrine, since it proposes to convert to the general use the property of individuals who are to receive no compensation or inadequate compensation.—[Chicago Chronicle.
